Mobile Connectivity while in Bali

- There are a few providers including, XL Axiata, Telkomsel, Smartfren.
- Telkomsel may be the most expensive option but has the best coverage and the most advanced 4G/5G network and is therefore my recommendation.
- The best place to buy a prepaid sim card for Bali is on arrival at Denpasar International Airport - DPS. Straight after you got your passport stamped you walk through duty free and at the end of the duty free you will already see a couple tables where they sell sim cards.
- Next to luggage belt 4 they sell Telkomsel prepaid sim cards or you can head to the big arrival hall after customs, and you will find them on the left side.

Regarding Foreign Currency

- IDR also known as the Indonesia Rupiah, is the official currency of Bali

- While most big establishments like restaurants and shops accept cards, You will need cash for your travel partners, rental facilities, tips, small shops
- Exchange money before going and carry that forex and if you need some additional cash while there, the most cost effective way is to use an ATM. Do check with your banks regarding the charges.
- Ensure that the credit/debit cards you are carrying are activated for international spends.

Getting Around in Bali

The preferred way is to go through a local partner who will arrange your private transfers and tours. Of if you want more flexibility, to go with a cab provider who will only take care of the transport but you have flexibility to switch things around in your itinerary.

Grab and Gojek are the cab hailing apps that you can use only in certain areas such as Nusa Dua, Kuta, Seminyak and Ubud.

The other option is to book via the hotel, if you want even greater flexibility.
