Greece: Must-Try Dishes

Appetizers (Meze)

- Tzatziki – A cool, creamy dip made from Greek yogurt, cucumber, garlic, and olive oil. Best enjoyed with warm pita.
- Melitzanosalata – Smoky roasted eggplant blended with garlic and lemon—similar to baba ghanoush, but uniquely Greek.
- Tomatokeftedes – Crispy Santorini-style tomato fritters with herbs, perfect for vegetarians.
- Saganaki – A thick slice of cheese (usually graviera or kefalotyri) fried until golden and bubbling.
- Dolmades – Vine leaves stuffed with herbed rice and sometimes minced meat.
- Fava – A smooth yellow split pea puree, usually served with onions, olive oil, and capers—especially popular in the Cyclades.
- Skordalia – A bold and garlicky potato puree, often served with fried fish or vegetables.
- Horta – Boiled seasonal greens like dandelion or chicory, served simply with lemon and olive oil.

Main Dishes

- Moussaka – Greece's national comfort food: layers of eggplant, ground beef (or lamb), and creamy béchamel sauce.
- Souvlaki – Grilled meat skewers, typically pork or chicken, served with pita, fries, and tzatziki.
- Gyros – Rotisserie-style meat (usually pork or chicken) sliced into pita with tomato, onion, fries, and sauce.
- Grilled Octopus – Tender, smoky, and often served with olive oil, oregano, and a wedge of lemon.

- Paidakia – Grilled lamb chops, juicy and seasoned simply with salt, pepper, and oregano.
 - Stifado – A rich stew of beef or rabbit cooked slowly with onions, cinnamon, red wine, and tomatoes.
 - Klefiko – Slow-roasted lamb wrapped in parchment paper, typically cooked with potatoes and herbs.
 - Gemista – Baked tomatoes and bell peppers stuffed with rice, herbs, and sometimes minced meat.
 - Youvetsi – A baked dish of orzo pasta and tender beef or lamb in a tomato-rich sauce.
 - Fresh fish of the day – Sea bass, sea bream, sardines, or anchovies grilled whole, served with lemon and olive oil.

Desserts

- Baklava – Layers of filo pastry with chopped nuts and honey syrup. Crunchy, sticky, and irresistible.
- Galaktoboureko – A creamy custard wrapped in flaky filo and soaked in lemony syrup.
- Loukoumades – Greek-style doughnuts, golden and fluffy, drizzled with honey, cinnamon, and crushed nuts.
- Rizogalo – A simple yet comforting rice pudding, lightly sweetened and dusted with cinnamon.
- Kataifi – Similar to baklava but made with shredded filo, filled with nuts, and drenched in syrup.
- Portokalopita – A moist orange filo cake, sweet and tangy, often served cold.
- Mastiha ice cream – A uniquely Greek flavor made from mastic resin—refreshing and aromatic.

Cultural Etiquette & Useful Local Phrases- Greece

Dos

- Do greet warmly with a smile and eye contact—Greeks are friendly and expressive.
- Do say “Kalimera” (Good morning) and other greetings when entering shops or restaurants.
- Do dress modestly when visiting churches or monasteries—shoulders and knees covered.
- Do tip around 5–10% in restaurants (though not always expected, it's appreciated).
- Do be patient with timing—life moves at a more relaxed pace, especially outside of Athens.

Don'ts

- Don't flush toilet paper—most Greek plumbing isn't built for it; use the bin provided.
- Don't assume everyone speaks English—although many do, it's polite to try Greek first.
- Don't make a hand gesture with an open palm (like waving stop)—it can be considered offensive.
- Don't wear swimwear outside the beach/pool—cover up when in town.

Useful Greek Phrases

- Hello: Yassas (formal) / Yia sou (casual)
- Good morning: Kalimera
- Good evening: Kalispera

Personal Safety & Emergency Contacts

General Safety Tips:

1. Keep valuables secure and out of sight in busy areas.
2. Use a money belt or neck pouch for passports and extra cash.
3. Carry copies of travel documents (digital and paper).
4. Avoid isolated alleys or beaches late at night.
5. In mosques/churches: dress modestly and be respectful.
6. Check local news or apps (like Google Alerts or Smart Traveler) for protests or strikes, especially in Athens and Istanbul.

Scams and Frauds in Greece:

1. "Friendship Bracelets" Scam- Someone tries to tie a bracelet on your wrist "as a gift," then demands payment. 📍 Common in Monastiraki Square (Athens), Santorini viewpoints.
2. Restaurant Price Switch- Menus without prices or switched bills—check your receipt and ask for a menu in advance.
3. Taxi Overcharging- Insist on the meter. Avoid taxis parked in front of touristy spots; use apps like Beat.

Scams and Frauds in Turkey:

1. "Let's Have a Drink" Scam- A friendly local invites you to a bar—later, you're stuck with an outrageous bill. Politely decline.
2. Street Vendor Guilt Traps- Peddlers may try to place items in your hand, then guilt you into buying. Say "no thanks" firmly.
3. Fake Carpet Dealers- Be cautious with "special invites" to carpet shops claiming "family business."
4. Taxis without Meters- Always insist on using the meter. In Istanbul, use BiTaksi app (like Uber).
