| Day 2,Wed, Mar 26 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● After breakfast, start your day with a visit to the Akihabara district (also called Electric town)- full of electronic shops and the anime central of Japan (31 min distance by public transport from the hotel) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ It is open 24/7 although most shops open by 10-11am.</li> <li>○ Hundreds of electronics shops, ranging from tiny one-man stalls specializing in a particular electronic component to large electronics retailers, line the main Chuo Dori street</li> <li>○ The only mega sized store is the Yodobashi Camera complex on the east side of the station.</li> <li>○ There are also dozens of stores specializing in anime, manga, retro video games, figurines, card games and other collectibles that have filled the spaces between the electronics retailers.</li> <li>○ The Akihabara branch of Don Quijote is home to the girl pop group AKB48, who perform daily shows at their theater on the 8th floor of the store</li> </ul> </li> <li>● Have an early lunch (there are several options listed in the eating out guide)</li> <li>● Next, head to Maikoya Tea House for the Tea Ceremony that you have booked at 1pm (it is 20 mins from Akhihabra). The tea ceremony will run for 90 minutes</li> </ul> |

- After that, visit the the Senso-Ji Temple (5 min walk from the tea house)
  - It is open from 6 am till 5pm every day, free admission
  - After the visit, wander through the vibrant Nakamise-dori shopping street lined with traditional Japanese shops
- Then walk to Asakusa district (7 mins from the Sensoji temple), walk around taking in the sights
  - Visit the Asakusa Culture and Sightseeing Center located opposite of the Kaminarimon. There are accessible toilets at the centre.
  - The 8th-floor observation terrace offers a nice view of Asakusa and Tokyo Sky Tree. It is free and open from 10 am to 8 pm.
  - People typically spend about an hour for the whole experience
  - There are several small food shops available, as well as experiential sit down restaurants and even Ninja cafes!- please check the eating out guide below for our top picks!
  - If you are spending more time in Asakusa, you may also want to do the following:
    - View the The Asahi Beer Tower and Asahi Super Dry Hall with its characteristic Flamme d'Or were completed in 1989 and host the headquarters of Asahi Breweries. Furthermore, several restaurants can be found in the complex. Restaurants open 11:30 to 15:00 and 17:30 to 22:00. Behind both the Beer Tower and the Super Dry Hall is the Asahi Craftmanship Brewery. The restaurant and brewery offers diners decently priced lunches as well as Asahi craft beer on tap.
    - Visit Sumida Park- This riverside park stretches along both sides of Sumida River for several hundred meters
    - Visit the experiential cafes/restaurants (see in the eating out guide below) or some of the iconic options such as Kamiya Bar (one of Japan's oldest bars, with a history reaching back to 1880), Umezono (a traditional Japanese sweets shop that started in 1854. Their menu contains classics like anmitsu and oshiruko in addition to seasonal favorites like shaved ice (kakigori) and Asakusa Kagetsudo- a melon-pan store and restaurant that has been in business since 1945
- Spend the evening at the Ueno park to view the cherry blossoms that would be in full bloom (27 min distance by public transport from Asakusa)
  - It is open 5am- 11pm everyday

Japanese Vegetarian dishes

- Tempura- deep fried vegetables in batter
- Ukemono or Japanese pickled vegetables are an essential part of a Japanese meal and are always included in set meals.
- Miso soup (often with tofu and green onions) is part of every set meal including breakfast. Chopsticks are used to eat the ingredients and the broth is sipped directly from the bowl.
- Zaru Soba- Cold soba (buckwheat) noodles are popular in the summer served on a bamboo tray with nori seaweed, spring onion, wasabi
- Okonomiyaki is a type of Japanese savoury pancake. It is usually made with egg so please try try the ones only at vegan restaurants.
- Nasu dengaku- This classic Japanese side dish consists of grilled eggplant cut into slices and coated with a delicious, rich miso glaze.
- Veg Sushi- lots of sushi in Japan is vegetarian. Look out for treats such as kappa maki (cucumber rolls), takuan maki (pickled daikon rolls) and inarizushi (rice stuffed inside deep-fried tofu pockets).
- Vegetarian onigiri- Triangular onigiri rice balls are a quintessential Japanese snack, and several of them are vegetarian. Keep an eye out for ones filled with kombu seaweed, umeboshi (pickled plum), and natto (fermented soybeans).
- Vegetarian ramen

- Veg udon noodles
- Veg gyoza (veg momos)
- Mochi- Wonderfully chewy and stretchy, mochi rice cakes are made from pounded steamed rice and often stuffed with sweet bean paste. You can find all kinds of delicious varieties, from sticky sakura mochi to strawberry daifuku mochi, each made with entirely plant-based ingredients.
- Wagashi- More like works of art than food, wagashi sweets are an unmissable Japanese treat. Traditionally made with only plant-based ingredients such as bean paste, they're beautifully crafted in the shape of flowers and other stunning designs. For a truly authentic experience, enjoy them with a cup of matcha tea!

Additional tips as vegetarians in Japan

- You could try telling people that you are vegetarian (“Watashi wa bejitarian des”) but they probably won’t understand exactly what this means.
- It is better to instead say- “watashi wa niku toh sakana wo tabemasen” which means I don’t eat meat or fish.
- Download the Google Translate app and use the speech to text feature to communicate what you want to.
- You can also use the camera feature on Google Translate app to go through menus that may not be in English
- Avoid Dashi (a popular condiment used in dipping sauces) since it contains fish sauce
- Look out for Coco Ichibanya- japans largest curry chain- which is available in most places and use the green menus (veg) to order.

Mobile Connectivity while in Japan

There are 4 main SIM Card providers in Japan, but I would recommend NTT Docomo for better coverage

- The best place to buy a sim card is at the airport kiosks
- You can also buy it at a convenience store
- Even if you do not purchase an international roaming plan for your current India number, remember to activate roaming so that you receive messages (important for things like OTPs).

Emergency Numbers

Here are few numbers to keep handy while in Japan

- 110: Police
- 119: Ambulance

Getting around in Japan.

- Buy a prepaid Icosa/Suica/Pasmo card for local travel (railways/buses/subways) in all Japanese cities.
- It is recommended to buy the card from the closest metro station to you
- The ICOCA Card costs ¥2,000, which includes ¥1,500 in preloaded value and a ¥500 deposit that you can get back when you return the card at the end of your trip.
- Suica card also has refundable deposit.
- Pasmo doesn't have refundable deposit.
- You can recharge the card from automated ticket machines, charge machines, and fare adjustment machines inside ticket gates and even convenience stores.
- Your current credit balance will be displayed on a small screen when you pass through ticket gates or make a payment at a store. Additionally, you can check your balance and view your usage history at ticket machines.
- You need 1 card per person
- Typically consider 1000-2000 yen per day but since you have a couple of private trips, I would suggest to first load the card with 5000 yen and then recharge as you go.
- We would suggest to read through the following article to understand how to use it

Recommended things to buy/carry

- Travel Insurance- Recommendation- TATA AIG
- Light jackets (the current weather ranges from 3 degrees to 21 degrees)
- Umbrellas for the occasional shower
- Caps and sunscreen for when the sun is out!!
- Walking shoes
- Travel adaptors for chargers
- Forex (cash and card). Recommendation for a forex card is a BookMyForex card
- Doctors prescriptions/travel prescriptions for medicines (except over the counter meds)

Recommended Apps

- Google Translate
- Google Maps- please click on the map link for each destination on your itinerary and hit 'directions' with the start point as 'my location' Don't forget to click on 'options' and choose 'wheelchair accessible' to give you the closest bus stops/metro stations that are accessible.
- Go Taxi
- Happy Cow (to look for veg restaurants)
- Klook (to manage your bookings)
- Get your guide (to manage your bookings)
