Rajasthan: Must-Try Dishes

Rajasthani food is known for its bold use of spices, richness in ghee, and ingenious use of local ingredients like millets, legumes, and dried vegetables. It evolved from royal kitchens and desert survival tactics, resulting in a mix of hearty vegetarian fare and fiery meat dishes.

- Laal Maas – A fiery mutton curry made with Mathania red chillies and ghee.
- Gatte ki Sabzi – Chickpea flour dumplings simmered in a tangy yogurt-based curry.
- Ker Sangri – A dry sabzi made from desert beans and berries, cooked with minimal spices and lots of oil.
- Dal Baati Churma – The holy grail of Rajasthani cuisine: baked dough balls (baati), mixed lentils (dal), and sweetened crumbled wheat (churma).
- Pyaz Kachori – Deep-fried flaky pastry filled with a spicy onion mix. Best enjoyed with mint chutney.
- Ghewar – A honeycomb-like sweet soaked in sugar syrup, topped with rabri, often eaten during festivals.
- Safed Maas – Unlike the fiery laal maas, this mutton curry is creamy, with curd, almonds, and cardamom.
- Papad Mangodi ki Sabzi – A dry preparation using sun-dried lentil dumplings and crispy papad pieces in a light curry.
- Mawa Kachori – A decadent kachori stuffed with sweetened khoya and dry fruits, dipped in sugar syrup.
- Rabdi Malpua – Thick, syrupy pancakes drenched in creamy rabdi, best served warm.
- Mirchi Bada – A spicy green chili stuffed with potato, dipped in besan, and deep fried.
- Balushahi – A glazed doughnut-like sweet often paired with rabri.
- Churma Ladoo – Wheat, ghee, jaggery, and nuts blended into soft laddoos.
- Masala Chaas – A cooling buttermilk spiced with roasted cumin and herbs.
- Thandai – Rich milk drink with saffron, nuts, and rose.
- Kesar Lassi – Thick, creamy yogurt drink topped with saffron and malai.
- Kulhad Coffee – Earthy-style coffee served in clay cups.
- Ginger Lemon Soda – Especially refreshing after a spicy Rajasthani meal.

Personal Safety & Emergency Contacts

General Safety Tips:

1. Avoid walking alone late at night—especially in poorly lit or less busy areas.
 2. Use verified transport apps like Uber/Ola or your hotel's car services.
 3. Scams and Frauds:
 - Taxi & Auto Rickshaw Scams: Driver claims your hotel is "closed" or "moved" and takes you to a commission-based shop or hotel- Always negotiate a fare or insist on the meter before boarding a local auto, and insist you are taken to your pre-booked hotel, directly
 - Fake Tour Guides: A "friendly" person offers to show you around, then demands a large tip or drags you to overpriced shops. Only use licensed guides (e.g., arranged through your hotel or tourism office).
 - Commission Shops: Guides or drivers take you to shops where you are pressured to buy at inflated prices. Shop where you want. Avoid buying immediately—compare prices first. Politely decline offers from unsolicited "helpers".
 - Fake Ticket Sellers: Locals outside attractions sell "discounted" tickets that are fake or expired. Buy tickets online or at official counters only
 - Address: Av. Salaverry 3006, San Isidro, Lima 27, Peru
 - Telephone (General): +51 1 261 6006 / 261 6007.
