Peru: Must-Try Dishes

- Ceviche: Peru's national dish, made with fresh raw fish or seafood "cooked" in lime or lemon juice, mixed with chili (aji limo), salt, red onions, sweet potato, and Peruvian corn.
- Aji de Gallina: A creamy, comforting dish made with shredded chicken in a rich, mild yellow sauce (made from aji amarillo peppers, ground walnuts, cheese, and evaporated milk), served with rice, boiled potatoes, and black olives.
- Lomo Saltado: A popular stir-fry dish, a classic example of "Chifa" (Chinese-Peruvian fusion). It typically features marinated strips of beef, onions, tomatoes, and French fries, often served with white rice.
- Causa Rellena: A beloved cold appetizer featuring layers of mashed yellow Peruvian potatoes (often blended with aji amarillo and lime) with various mayonnaise-based fillings. Common fillings include tuna or chicken salad, but also crab or prawns.
- Papa a la Huancaína: A simple yet delicious dish of sliced boiled yellow potatoes covered in a creamy, spicy cheese sauce (made from queso fresco, aji amarillo, garlic, and evaporated milk), usually garnished with a hard-boiled egg and olives.
- Locro de Zapallo: A hearty, creamy squash stew made with pieces of squash, potatoes, evaporated milk, queso fresco, and vegetables like onions, peas, and corn, seasoned with aji amarillo.
- Kapchi: A traditional Andean vegetarian stew, particularly popular in the Cusco region, primarily featuring mushrooms and fava beans, along with potatoes and rice. It has a creamy texture from milk or fresh cheese and is flavored with huacatay (Peruvian black mint).
- Quinoa Soup (Sopa de Quinoa): A nutritious soup made with quinoa, often including assorted vegetables (potatoes, carrots, zucchini, peppers) in a vegetable broth.
- Tacu Tacu: A Peruvian take on rice and beans, traditionally made with leftover rice and beans, often served with a fried egg and salsa. The vegetarian version often comes with a fried egg on top.
- Solterito: A refreshing Peruvian salad, typically from the southern region of Arequipa, made with fava beans, corn, onions, tomatoes, black olives, and queso fresco, often dressed with olive oil and vinegar. This is naturally vegetarian.

- Humitas: Sweet or savory corn cakes wrapped and cooked in corn husks. Vegetarian options are common, often made with cheese, onions, and various spices.
 - Arroz Chaufa: Another popular Chifa dish, this fried rice combines bell peppers, soy sauce, egg, and can be made with various meats.

Popular Drinks

- Pisco Sour: Peru's national cocktail, made with Pisco (a type of brandy made from fermented grape juice), lime juice, simple syrup, egg white, and a dash of Angostura bitters.
- Chicha Morada: A beloved non-alcoholic traditional drink made from boiled purple corn, pineapple skin, cinnamon, cloves, and sugar. It has a distinctive sweet and fruity flavor.
- Inca Kola: A bright yellow, super-sweet fizzy soda that tastes like bubblegum. It's incredibly popular in Peru, even outselling Coca-Cola.
- Chilcano: A refreshing Pisco-based cocktail, lighter than a Pisco Sour, made with Pisco, ginger ale, lime juice, and a splash of bitters.
- Mate de Coca: An herbal tea made from coca plant leaves, often consumed to help with altitude sickness. It has a mild stimulating effect.
- Lucuma Milkshake: A delicious milkshake made from the unique Peruvian fruit, lúcuma, known for its sweet, caramel-like flavor.
- Emoliente: A warming herbal tea popular in winter, made from a blend of medicinal plants like plantain leaf, alfalfa sprouts, barley, and flaxseed, known for its healing properties.

Souvenir Shopping Guide

What to Buy and from where

- High-Quality Alpaca & Baby Alpaca Products (San Pedro and San Blas markets in Cusco, traditional markets in Sacred Valley, Upscale boutiques in Miraflores (e.g., Sol Alpaca, Kuna) for guaranteed quality, or smaller shops in Barranco.)
- Ceramics: Pottery ranges from functional items like bowls and plates to decorative pieces and replicas of pre-Inca and Inca designs. Look for Pucará bulls (Artisan shops in Cusco (especially San Blas)
- Musical Instruments- Authentic Andean instruments like panpipes (zampoñas), flutes (queñas), and small drums (cajas)- San Pedro Market in Cusco
- Peruvian Pima Cotton Apparel (Clothing stores and boutiques in Miraflores.)
- Peruvian Coffee (High-quality beans from the Amazonian regions)
- Artisan Chocolate (look for bars made with Peruvian beans, often with unique flavor infusions (like ají or lucuma- Check for them in supermarkets (e.g., Vivanda, Wong), gourmet food stores, and specialty shops in Miraflores.

General Tips for Souvenir Shopping in Peru:

- Haggle (Politely): Especially in markets, light-hearted bargaining is expected, particularly if you're buying multiple items. Always do so with a smile!
 - Quality Check: For alpaca products, check the labels. "Baby alpaca" is the softest and finest. Some items might be a blend or even acrylic labeled as alpaca, so feel the material.
 - Carry Small Bills: Helpful for market purchases.

Cultural Etiquette & Useful Local Phrases

Dos

- Always greet people. A simple "¡Hola!" (Hello) or "¡Buenos días/tardes/noches!" (Good morning/afternoon/evening) goes a long way.
- Tipping is customary but not always expected for every service.
 - Restaurants: 10% is standard for good service in mid-to-high-end restaurants. Service charge might be included, so check the bill ("servicio incluido").
 - Taxi Drivers: Not usually tipped unless they help with luggage or go out of their way.
 - Tour Guides: Appreciated, usually 10-20 soles per person per day for good service on a shared tour, or more for private tours.
- Things in Peru often operate on "Peruvian time," which can be a bit slower than what you might be used to. Be patient and flexible.

Don'ts

- Don't drink tap water: Stick to bottled water to avoid stomach issues.
- Don't take photos without permission: As mentioned above, it's considered disrespectful.
- Don't litter: Always dispose of your trash properly.
- Don't flash valuables: Be discreet with expensive cameras, phones, and jewelry, especially in crowded areas or less touristy parts of cities.

Knowing a few basic Spanish phrases will significantly enhance your interactions:

- Greetings:
 - Hola! - Hello!
 - Buenos días! - Good morning!
 - Buenas tardes! - Good afternoon!
 - Buenas noches! - Good evening/night!
- Politeness:
 - Por favor - Please
 - Gracias - Thank you
 - De nada - You're welcome
 - Permiso - Excuse me (to get past someone)
 - Disculpe - Excuse me/Pardon me (to apologize or get attention)
- Requests & Questions:

Personal Safety & Emergency Contacts

General Safety Tips:

1. Be Aware of Your Surroundings:

- Stay Alert: Pay attention to what's happening around you, especially in crowded areas like markets, bus terminals, and tourist sites.
- Avoid Walking Alone at Night: Especially in less-trafficked or poorly lit areas. Take a registered taxi or ride-sharing service.

2. Protect Your Valuables:

- Minimize Displays: Avoid flashing expensive jewelry, watches, cameras, or large amounts of cash.
- Beware of Pickpockets: In crowded areas, keep bags zipped and in front of you. Be especially careful in markets (like San Pedro Market)
- ATMs: Use ATMs during daylight hours, preferably inside banks or well-lit, secure locations. Be mindful of anyone watching you.
- Bags: When sitting at a cafe or restaurant, don't hang your bag on the back of your chair; keep it on your lap or between your feet.

3. Transportation:

- Registered Taxis: Always use official, registered taxis (they usually have a taxi sign on top and company numbers on the side) or ride-sharing apps like Uber or Cabify when in Lima

4. Health & Altitude Sickness (Soroche):

- Acclimatization: when you are heading to Cusco or the Sacred Valley (high altitudes), take it easy for the first 24-48 hours. Avoid strenuous activity, heavy meals, and alcohol.
- Hydration: Drink plenty of water (bottled water only!).
- Coca Tea/Leaves: Many hotels offer coca tea (mate de coca), which can help alleviate altitude symptoms. Chewing coca leaves is also a traditional method.
- Food & Water: Stick to bottled water. Be cautious with street food; choose establishments that look clean and have high turnover. Wash fruits and vegetables thoroughly.

5. Scams and Frauds:

- "Good Samaritan" Scams: Be wary of strangers who approach you offering unsolicited help, especially if they try to distract you.
 - Fake Police: There have been reports of individuals posing as police officers to demand money or search tourists' bags. Always ask for official identification and never hand over your passport or wallet. If suspicious, insist on going to the nearest police station.
 - Overcharging: Negotiate taxi fares before getting in, especially if not using a meter or ride-sharing app. Check restaurant bills carefully.

Emergency Contacts in Peru:

These numbers are valid throughout Peru. When dialing from an international phone, you'll need the country code +51.

- General Emergency (Police/Fire/Ambulance): 105 (This is the primary emergency number for police and can direct you to other services)
- Tourist Police (POLTUR): +51 1 460 1060 (Lima, specifically for tourists. They can assist with crimes against tourists, lost passports, etc. They often have English-speaking staff.)

Indian Embassy Contact Information in Peru

For any consular assistance, lost passports, or other emergencies involving Indian citizens, contact the Embassy of India in Lima:

- Embassy of India, Lima
 - Address: Av. Salaverry 3006, San Isidro, Lima 27, Peru
 - Telephone (General): +51 1 261 6006 / 261 6007.

Health & Vaccination Guidance

- Recommended vaccinations for Peru include: diphtheria, tetanus, polio, typhus, hepatitis A/B, and rabies.
- A yellow fever vaccine is strongly recommended for trips to the Amazon (Puerto Maldonado or Iquitos) and required for travelers arriving from yellow fever-infected countries in Africa or Latin America.
- The yellow fever certificate is valid 10 days after vaccination and remains valid for a period of 10 years.
- The Center for Disease Control and Prevention recommends taking anti-malarial drugs if traveling to the northern parts of Peru and Iquitos in the Amazon.
- It is important to consult with your doctor for the most up-to-date information and advice on vaccinations and anti-malarial medication for your specific travel plans in Peru.
